Walking the Walls

Nehemiah faced a great challenge. Rebuilding the walls and gates of Jerusalem. Can you imagine what was going through his mind as he walked the walls and saw the condition of the walls and gates of his city? Can you imagine how overwhelming it must have felt? Maybe you can... maybe that's exactly the condition of your ministry? You are in survival mode not growth and development mode. Things are happening but everyone is worn out and ready to give up...

Before you give up or give in... Let's Take a Walk!

We'll spend some time digging into scripture to understand the 6 Clear Components of Nehemiah's plan and process. We'll learn to ask 4 Simple Questions (I said simple – not easy) and we'll master the use of 2 Basic Tools.

Along the way you will learn some new common language for your teams, understand how to create clarity in your expectations and needs, and see the difference in a Team of Helpers vs a Mission Community.

A little about Joe Chenoweth and the history of Walking the Walls (WtW):

Joe was in the world of sales and marketing for over 15 years and more recently has been involved in local and national ministry opportunities since 2000. Joe is an Area Developer for the international ministry Young Life, an elder at his local church, and provides pastoral care for the mission support organization Perception Funding. Joe has filled the seat of most roles within a business, church, or ministry – so he is able to have the proper perspective in answering questions and providing leadership.

WtW has been “in the works” since 2014, as we've learned from hands-on experience rebuilding and restarting ministries. In 2016, as I read through the remainder of Nehemiah, it became clear to me how this great book provided a model, example, and practical tools for rebuilding and developing.

Over the last few years the process, materials, and teaching of WtW became a reality. I'd love to share what we have learned from working with many in your same situation.
